

Question : Isa relation is implemented by composition in OO programming

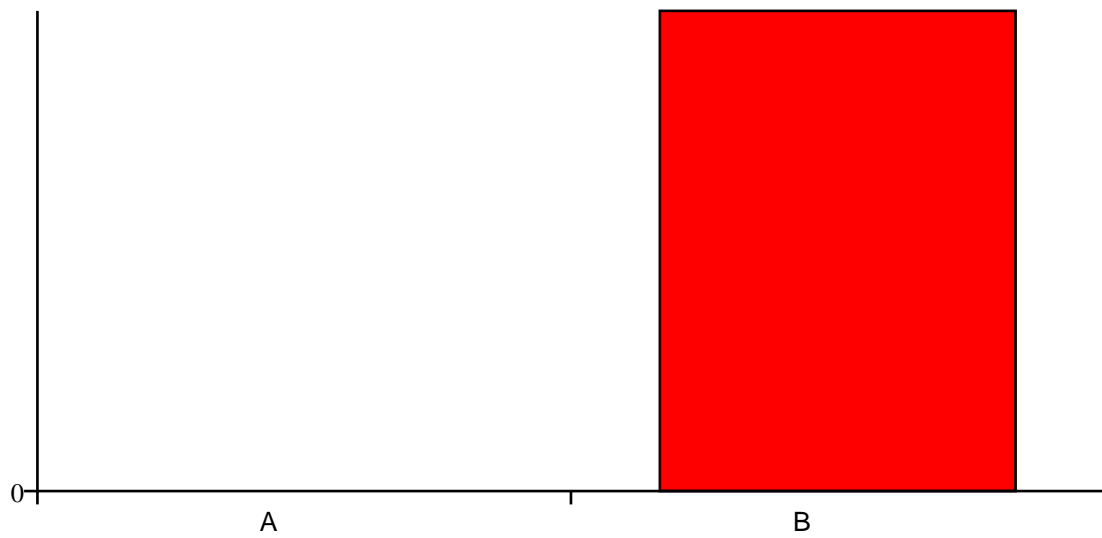

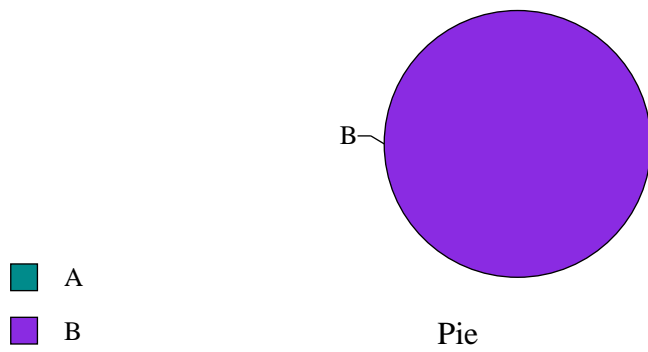

A:False - 1

B:True - 0

Question : Account SavingsAccount example shows isa relation This means that SavingAccount inherits from Account class In other words Account class is a generalization of SavingsAccount class

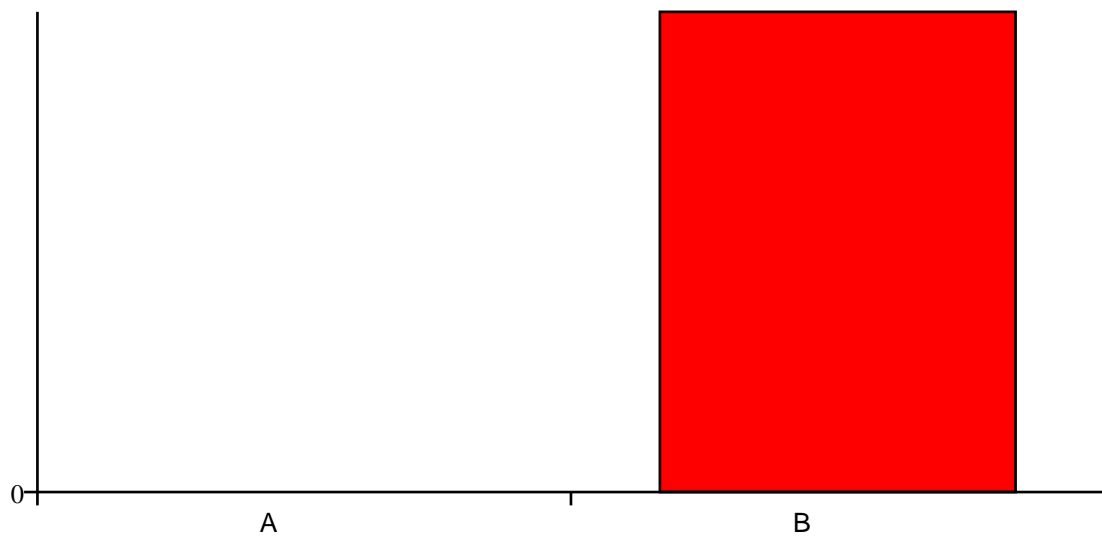

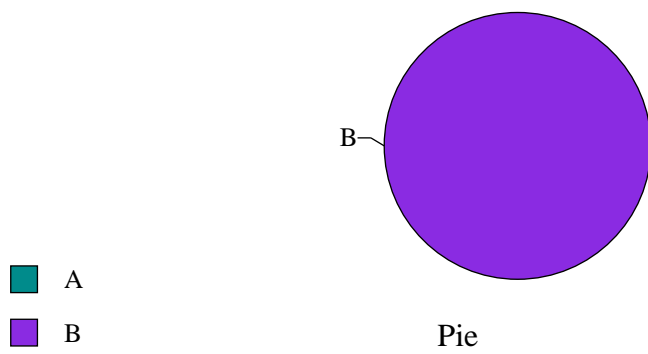

A:False - 0
B:True - 1

Question : There are two types of relationships in object oriented programming Isa relation and hasa relation Classes and objects are organized in a large software by using these relations

A:False - 0

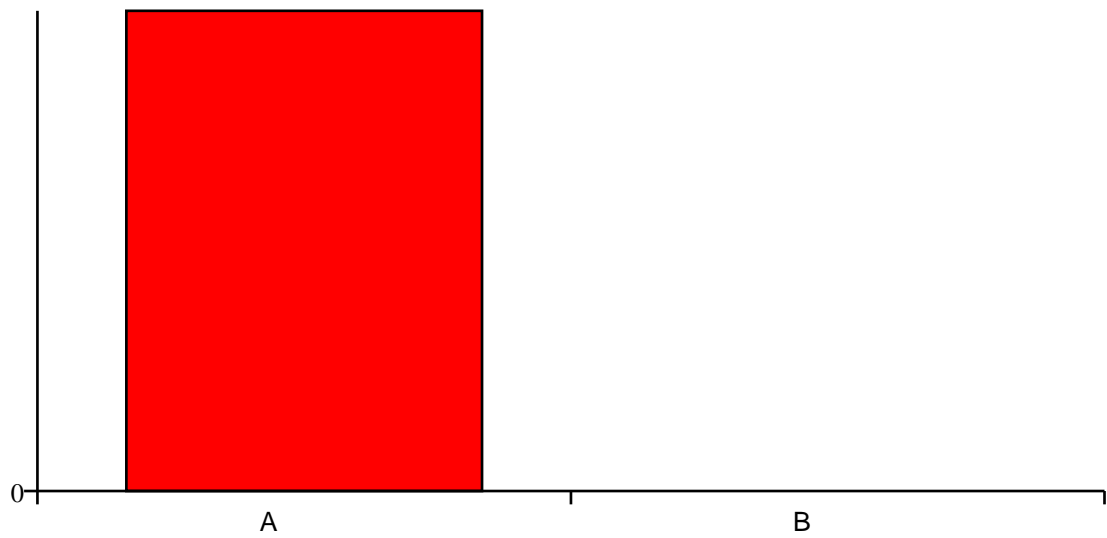

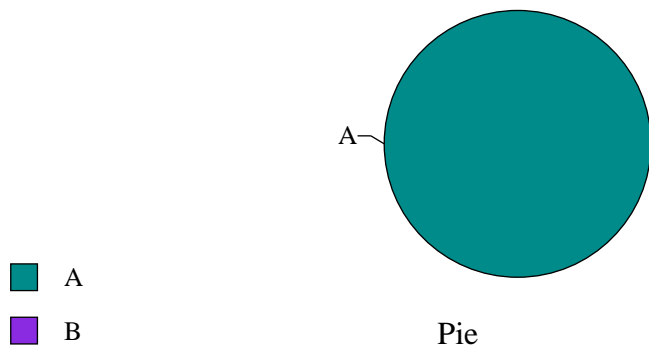

B:True - 1

Question : Hasa relation is implemented by using inheritance in OO programming

A:False - 1

B:True - 0

Question : In inheritance, private methods of the superclass is not included in the subclass

A:False - 0

B:True - 1

